Negative Balance Protection: (NBP) for CFD trading shall mean the total negative financial amount in the Client Trading Account owed by the Client to the Company, as such, any client trading losses cannot exceed the funds on a client's trading account, giving the client greater protection. NBP ensures that traders who possess losing positions do not enter into a negative balance in their CFD trading account. Clients can never lose more than what they have on deposit with the broker. If a leveraged position deteriorates rapidly, such as through a price spike, a client who employed leverage can theoretically have negative equity in their position or account. NBP will only be instituted on a per-account basis. Meaning, that a client who has one large leveraged position within a portfolio can still lose more than the value of the initial position. Any other positions or funds the client has with the broker can be used to cover that negative balance. But, on the whole, a Client's account can never enter negative territory. If it does, the loss falls to the Company, not to the Client.

5. CLIENT'S CATEGORISATION

5.1 The Company categorises its' Clients as retail clients, professional, elective professional clients or eligible counterparties as per MiFID II. The categorisation intends to reflect the client's level of knowledge and experience in the financial markets and their ability to understand and take on the risks arising from their investment decisions, to adopt protective measures to the particularities of each category of investor.

5.2 The categorisation is undertaken on the basis of objective criteria and shall depend on the information provided by the Client in his Account Opening Application Form and according to the method of categorisation as this method is explained under the document "Client Categorisation Policy". By accepting this Agreement, the Client accepts application of such method. contractual documentation and information that must be made available to them. This category includes the majority of individuals.

- (b) Professional Clients: Clients that possesses the experience, knowledge and expertise to make its own investment decisions and properly assess the risks it incurs. The category includes entities that fall within the category of “Eligible Counterparties”, such as investment firms, credit institutions, insurance companies, undertakings for the collective investment of transferable securities (UCITS), pension funds and national governments, plus institutional investors whose main activity is to invest in financial instruments and exceptionally some individuals who may be treated as professional clients upon request. It is in the Company’s sole discretion to decide whether a retail client may be treated as a professional client based on the knowledge and experience the client possess. Professional Clients are deemed to have more investment knowledge and experience and are provided with less protection under MiFID II, since they are assumed to have sufficient knowledge of the markets and financial instruments and are able to make their own decisions and to undertake the risks involved.
- (c) Eligible Counterparties (“ECP”): Clients that are per se eligible counterparties, such investment firms, credit institutions, insurance companies, undertakings for the collective investment of transferable securities (UCITS), pension funds and national governments which are automatically treated as eligible counterparties, as well as entities that may be treated as eligible counterparties with their consent, such as large undertakings, that meet specified size tests and clients who may be treated as ECPs in accordance with the prescribed opt-up criteria. To be treated as ECP as specified in MiFID II, is required for the entities to be recognised as such by their Home Member State. MiFID II provides a basic level of protection since the entities operate in the financial market frequently and directly.

5.3 In our dealings with you, we may treat you as a Retail Client, Professional Client or Eligible Counterparty. Unless we expressly agree otherwise in writing with you, we shall at all times treat you as a Retail Client for the purposes of the CySEC Rules and the Applicable Regulations. You have the right to request a different method of categorization as is explained under the Client Categorization Policy found on the Company’s Website. However, if you request a different categorization and the Company agrees to such categorization, you accept that the level of protection that is afforded by CySEC Regulations and other Applicable Regulations may differ. The Company cannot enter into title transfer financial collateral arrangements with Retail Clients.

5.4 Remuneration practices which could provide an incentive to the Company’s staff to recommend a particular financial instrument to a Retail Client when the Company could offer a different financial instrument which would better meet that Client’s needs are also prohibited. In the case of Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties, the Company may agree to provide more limited information as provided by Applicable Regulations. You may request a different client classification to the one allocated to you but please be aware that we may decline such a request. If you do request a different category from Retail Client and we agree to such a request, you will lose certain protections afforded by certain CySEC Rules. client categorisation. The Company has incorporated MiFID II criteria in carrying out the classification of Clients to its' Client Categorisation Policy found on the Company's website under Legal Documents. The Company based on MiFID II applies different level of protection to each category of clients. Retail Clients afford the most regulatory protection. Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties are considered to possess more experience, knowledge and be more sophisticated to assess their own risk and may afford less regulatory protection.

5.8 It is noted that different rules and different levels of protection apply to Clients depending on their categorisation. The Client accepts that he may be put in different categories for particular investment services and/or transactions and/or types of transactions and/or products.

5.9 The client category will determine the level of protection afforded to the Client under applicable legislation and in accordance with the Company's Categorisation Policy and Investors' Compensation Fund Policy. This includes the Client's access to, and eligibility by, the Financial Ombudsman of the Republic of Cyprus in the event of a complaint about the Company. A "Retail Client" is afforded with the highest regulatory protections available. The Company will notify the Client about the Client's entitlement of certain regulatory protection(s) prior to agreeing to a re-categorization request. Further information about the Financial Ombudsman of the Republic of Cyprus can be found in www.financialombudsman.gov.cy.

Finally, and following the implementation of the European Market Infrastructure Regulation (EMIR) on OTC derivatives, central counterparties and trade repositories, the Company is required to classify its Counterparties as a Financial Counterparty (FC) or a Non – Financial Counterparty (NFC).

given by this person on behalf of the Client and the Client will recognize such orders as valid and committing. The above written notification for the termination of the authorization to a third party has to be received by the Company with at least 2 days' notice. Once the Client's instructions or Orders are given to the Company and are sent for execution, they cannot be revoked. Only in exceptional circumstances the Company may allow the Client to revoke or amend the relevant instruction or Order. The Company has the right to proceed to a partial execution of the Client's Orders.

8.4 The transaction (opening or closing a position) is executed at the "BID" / "ASK" prices offered to the Client. The Client chooses desirable operation and makes a request to receive a transaction confirmation by the Company. The transaction is executed at the prices the Client can see on the screen. Due to the high volatility of the markets during the confirmation process the price may change and the Company has the right to offer the Client a new price. In the event the Company offers the Client a new price the Client can either accept the new price and execute the transaction or refuse the new price and cancel the execution of the transaction.

8.5 Orders can be placed, executed, changed or removed only within the operating (trading) time and may remain effective in the trading system according to order specific settings (GTC or other). The Client's Order shall be valid in accordance with the type and time of the given Order, as specified. If the time of validity of the order is not specified, it shall be valid for an indefinite period. The Status of the orders is always shown in the Client's online Trading Platform. In the event that access to the online Trading Platform is not possible, the Clients may contact the Company by telephone (as described in section 5 above) and request information regarding the status of any of their pending orders.

8.6 The Company shall not be held responsible in the case of delays or other errors caused during the transmission of orders and/or messages via computer, as well as for damage which may be caused by the non-validity of securities or a mistake in the bank account balance of the Client. The Company shall not be held responsible for information received via computer or for any loss which the Client may incur in case this information is inaccurate.

8.7 The Company reserves the right to change the opening/closing price (rate) and/or size and/or number of the related transaction (and/or the level and size of any Stop Limit, Stop Market or Stop Range order) in case of any Financial Instrument becomes subject to possible adjustment as the result of any event set out in Paragraph 8.8 below (hereinafter called a — Corporate Event). This operation is applied exclusively to securities and has a meaning to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of the parties under that transaction immediately prior to that Corporate Event. All actions of the Company regarding such adjustments are conclusive and binding upon the Client. The Company shall inform the Client of any adjustment as soon as reasonably practicable.

8.8 The Client will not be entitled to interest and/or dividends and/or any voting rights and/or any other rights in connection to the securities and/or funds in the Company's or Client's Account. The Client will only be entitled to the redemption of Client's Equity. It is hereby clarified that the Company withholds the above-mentioned dividends in order to cover expenses for custodianship and other expenses. In some jurisdictions, a client may ask the Company to receive dividends received from "long" positions in Equity accounts.

Receiving dividends is subject to a handling fee, set forth in the Contract Specifications document under Corporate Action Fee.

The Company reserves, in case of corporate event(s) as defined below, the right to one of the following procedures:

- (a) close such positions at the last price of the previous trading day and open the equivalent volume of the Financial Instrument at the first available price on the ex-dividend day.
- (b) leave such positions open and incur all costs on the Client (important notice: while opening a "short" position on a stock that might be involved in a corporate event, the Company shall adjust the Client account with such cost and shall notify the Client as soon as reasonably practicable).

8.11 Corporate Events are the declarations by the issuer of the Financial Instrument of the terms of any of the following but not limited to:

- (a) A subdivision, consolidation or reclassification of shares, a share buy-back or cancellation, or a free distribution of shares to existing shareholders by way of a bonus, capitalization or similar issue, or distribution of dividend (in cash or otherwise);
- (b) A distribution to existing holders of the underlying shares of additional shares, other share capital or securities granting the right to payment of dividends and/or proceeds of liquidation of the issuer equally proportionately with such payments to holders of the underlying shares, or securities, rights or warrants granting the right to a distribution of shares or to purchase, subscribe or receive shares, in any case of payment (in cash or otherwise) at less than the prevailing market price per share as determined by the Company;
- (c) Any other event in respect of the shares analogous to any of the above events or otherwise having a diluting or concentrating effect on the market value of the shares.

8.12 Orders: Buy, Sell, Short or Stop at Market; Buy, Sell, Short or Stop Limit; Stop Range etc. on Financial Instruments are executed at the Client's desired price order on the first current price touch, if available on the Market for the completion of the order with a counter party. In some circumstances, a counter party will not be available, and an order will not be executed. The Company reserves the right not to execute the order or to change the opening (closing) price of the transaction in case of the technical failure of the trading platform, reflected financial tools quotes feed, and also in case of other technical failures.

8.13 Under certain trading conditions it may be impossible to execute orders (Buy, Sell, Short or Stop at Market; Buy, Sell, Short or Stop Limit; Stop Range and others) on any Financial Instrument at the declared price. In this case the Company has the right to execute the order or change the opening (closing) price of the transaction at the first available price. This may occur, for example, at times of rapid price movement if the price rises or falls in one trading session to such an extent that under the rules of the relevant exchange, trading is suspended or restricted. This may occur in the trading session starting moments. As a result, placing a stop-loss order will not necessarily limit the Client's losses to the intended amounts, because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such an order at the stipulated price.

8.14 The Client may submit to the Company in writing by e-mail, his objection to the execution or the non-execution or the mode of execution of a transaction and/or Order concluded on his behalf within two (2) working days from the conclusion of the transaction otherwise, the transaction will be considered valid and binding for the Client.

right to close all of the Client's positions at market price and close the Client's account. It is clarified that the Company is under no obligation to do so.

For Clients trading CFDs on any Company's platform except MT4: If the Client's equity falls below $50 ("Trading Suspension Equity"), the Company will automatically close all of the Client's positions at market price and the client will not be able to place any further orders. It is clarified that the Company is under no obligation to proceed with the closure of the client's positions. The account will remain under "Read-Only" status until the equity of the account goes above $50.

For Retail Clients a margin stop-out rule is applied on an account basis across all open CFD positions in a client's account based on 50% of the initial margin required.

For Clients trading CFDs on MT4 platform: If the Client's equity falls below $0 ("Trading Suspension Equity"), the Company will automatically close all of the Client's positions at market price and the client will not be able to place any further orders. It is clarified that the Company is under no obligation to proceed with the closure of the client's positions. The account will remain under "Read-Only" status until the equity of the account goes above $50.

For Retail Clients a margin stop-out rule is applied on an account basis across all open CFD positions in a client's account based on 50% of the initial margin required.

For Professional Clients a margin stop-out rule is applied on an account basis across all open CFD positions in a client's account based on 10% of the initial margin required.

8.16 Despite what is mentioned in paragraph 8.15, the Company reserves the right, any time and without prior notice to the Client to impose stricter requirements/conditions or to refuse to permit trading on margin.

8.17 The Client hereby agrees to promptly satisfy all margin and maintenance calls.

8.18 Initial margin requirements may change without prior notice. The Company may impose at any time and without prior notice more stringent requirements on positions that in the Company's sole discretion involve higher level of risk; for example, higher limits may apply for thinly traded, speculative or volatile investment products or concentrated positions.

8.19 The Client may purchase only certain investment products on margin or use them as collateral in his margin and short account.

8.20 Equity securities with a market value of less than $5.00 per share generally may not be purchased on margin or deposited as margin collateral. If the market value of a security drops below $5.00 per share, the security may not be assigned any value as collateral to secure the Client's margin obligations.

8.21 Margin maintenance requirements may change without prior notice. The Company may issue a "margin call" (that is a notification to deposit additional collateral) if the account equity falls below the margin maintenance requirement. This can happen for various reasons. The most common reasons are a decrease in the value of long investment products held as collateral or an increase in the value of investment products held short. As a general guideline and when it is practical to do so, the Company may (but it is not required to) issue a margin call when the equity in the Client's margin and short account falls below a predetermined percentage of the market value of assets at risk (that is, the sum of the market values of the long and short investment product positions) in the Client's margin and short account. The amount of additional collateral the Company requires is usually an amount sufficient to raise the Client's equity to minimum standards.

8.22 The Company retains absolute discretion to determine whether, when and in what amounts it will require additional collateral. In some situations, the Company may find it necessary to require a higher level of equity in the Client's account. For example, the Company may require additional collateral if an account contains:

- Only one investment product or a large concentration of one or more investment products;
- Low-priced, thinly traded or volatile financial products; or
- Some of the Client's collateral is or becomes restricted or non-negotiable or non-marginable.

8.23 The Company may also consider the market conditions and the Client's financial resources. The Company has the authority at any time, at its discretion and without notice to the Client, to sell any or all of the investment products in the Client's account or to cancel any outstanding orders or to require additional collateral or to close the Client's account in the event of, but not limited to:

- (a) The Client's failure to meet the request for additional collateral;
- (b) The filing of a petition of bankruptcy by or against the Client;
- (c) If the equity in the Client's account falls below the minimum maintenance requirement

8.24 The Company is not obligated to notify the Client when a call is due and can liquidate any investment product to cover positions anytime and without demand for additional funds. The Company can sell any and/or all investment products in the Client's account whether carried individually or jointly with others. The Company can sell investment products that may be short in such accounts or cancel any open orders and/or trades to restore the account to the minimum margin balance required, without any notice to the Client. Any prior demand or notice will not be deemed a waiver of the Company's right to take these actions.

8.25 The Client agrees to indemnify the Company and hold it harmless from any and all liability, claims and damages and losses of any kind resulting from any action taken pursuant to the conditions of the margin account and the terms of this agreement.

8.26 The Client agrees and realizes that all conversations / communications between the Client and the Company can be recorded on magnetic, electronic and other carriers. The Client further agrees that the Company has the right to use these records as evidence in case any dispute arises between the Company and the Client.

8.27 The Company has the right to refuse the Client in the execution of transactions through the telephone line if the instructions/actions of the Client are not clear and do not include the following operations: opening position, closing position, amount of shares or lots, financial product name, changing or removing orders.

8.28 In case of force-majeure, hacker attacks and other illegal actions against the Server of the Company and also a suspension of trade in the financial markets concerning Financial Instruments of the Company, the Company may, suspend, freeze or close the Client positions and request the revision of the executed transactions.

8.29 All price levels in the trading terminal are final, except for circumstances stated in this Agreement. Any references of the Client to prices of other trading or information systems shall be disregarded.

8.30 Trading operations using additional functions of the Client trading terminal such as Trailing Stop, auto clicker, Expert Adviser or similar software are executed completely under the Client's responsibility, as they depend directly on the Client trading terminal and the Company bears no responsibility whatsoever. The Company reserves the right to reverse any or all type of existing or previous transactions performed by the Client in any of his trading accounts and terminate the agreement, as per clause 14.4, in case the Client uses

The client can request a different leverage, which may be provided after the Company's approval. The Company's Risk Management Department is monitoring the Clients account leverage on a continuous basis, and, in case where account remains excessively leveraged after the trading hours, the Company has the right to close part or all of the Client's open positions. The cost related to such an adjustment in the Clients account shall be payable by the Client. The Company is committed to putting its best efforts to inform the client beforehand of such an adjustment either by phone, email or SMS message. At the Company's discretion, the Client may benefit of a higher intraday buying power.

CFDs: The minimum volume of the transaction varies per Financial instrument and is specified on the trading window in the platform. The Company is committed to putting its best efforts to inform the client beforehand of such an adjustment either by phone, email or SMS message. At the Company's discretion, the Client may benefit of a higher intraday buying power.

Upon price change of the securities which constitutes a significant change, any order placed in those securities, as well as any cancelations of order with regards to the said securities shall be subject to the compliance review of the third party as applicable by the third party's policies and procedures. You should therefore be obliged to provide us with any other information may be needed for the purposes of reporting your transactions.

11.4.2 In case of failure to comply with the requirements mentioned above, we reserve the right to proceed with the suspension of your account, cancellation of your acceptance as our Client and/or termination of this Agreement.

12. CLIENT'S ACCOUNTS

12.1 All amounts handed over by the Client to the Company or which the Company holds on behalf of the Client, for the provision of Investment Services as in Clause 3, shall be held in the name of the Client and/or in the name of the Company on behalf of the Client in a segregated account for the purpose of keeping the Clients' funds with any bank or other institution which the Company shall specify from time to time ('the Bank Account').

12.2 Upon signing the Agreement, the Client authorizes the Company to make any deposits and withdrawals from the Bank Account on his behalf including, without prejudice to the generality of the above, withdrawals for the settlement of all transactions undertaken under the Agreement and all amounts which are payable by or on behalf of the Client to the Company or any other person.

As the payment system has evolved, storing the credentials of the cardholder became inevitable for the growth in digital commerce. Therefore, card service providers (such as VISA) have defined authorization data values to help identify initial storage and usage of stored payment credentials to enable differentiated processing and requires compliance from all the merchants with the recent changes in card scheme rules as to the storing of card data. Recognizing stored credential transactions distinctly allows for greater visibility into the transaction risk, enabling robust processing and resulting in differential treatment.
