- 7.1. In compliance with Applicable Laws and regulations, we are required to conduct a Know Your Customer (KYC) process to verify the identity of all Clients before providing our Services. As part of our risk-based approach, we may request various forms of identification, including but not limited to, official documents confirming your name, date of birth, and address. Additionally, we may use electronic verification tools, which could require further details, documents, or even photo or video evidence. If you are unable to satisfactorily verify your identity, or any documentation or information is found to be false, inaccurate, incorrect or incomplete, we may be unable to open an Account for you or may be required to close your existing Account.
- 7.2. We reserve the right to impose additional KYC requirements for Clients residing in certain jurisdictions before accepting them as Clients. Notwithstanding the aforementioned, we may request additional documentation and/or information from the Client at any time during the term of this Agreement or throughout the business relationship. Such requests are part of the Company's ongoing monitoring obligations. If the Client fails to provide the requested documentation or information, We may, at our discretion, terminate the business relationship.

- 7.3. You are responsible for ensuring that all KYC documentation provided to the Company remains valid and up to date. In the event that any KYC document expires and you fail to provide updated documentation, as requested by the Company within two (2) weeks from the date of expiration, Your Trading Account(s) shall be restricted to "closed only" status. This means that no new trades will be permitted until the updated document is provided and verified by the Company. We further reserve the right to escalate additional measures in accordance with its compliance obligations and regulatory requirements.
- 7.4. For certain complex Financial Instruments, we are required to assess whether they are appropriate for you based on your knowledge, experience, and understanding of the risks involved. You will only be able to place an Order in such products if you successfully complete the required Appropriateness Test. If we determine that these products are not appropriate for you, we will inform you, and we will not proceed with executing the Order(s).

You will be officially considered a Client and granted full access to our Services only after we have completed our client acceptance process and you have received confirmation from us. During this period, you shall be bound by the terms of this Agreement.

- 7.6. In compliance with Applicable laws, we shall categorise our clients into three main categories: "eligible counterparties", "professional clients" and "retail clients". The classification intends to reflect a Client's level of knowledge and experience in the financial markets and their ability to understand and take on the risks arising from their investment decisions, for the Company to adopt protective measures to the particularities of each category of investor. Eligible counterparties and professional clients are considered to be more experienced, knowledgeable, sophisticated and able to assess their own risk, and therefore are given a lower level of regulatory protection.
- 7.7. The client categorization is undertaken on the basis of objective criteria and depends on the information provided by You in the Application Form. By accepting this Agreement You accept the application of such method. Unless expressly notified to the contrary in writing, We shall treat you as a Retail Client, as required by the CySEC rules. You have the right to request for different categorisation as this is explained under Our Client Categorization Policy. If You request a different categorization and the Company agrees to such categorization, You accept that the level of protection that is afforded by CySEC Rules and other Applicable Regulations may differ. The Company does not enter into title transfer financial collateral arrangements with Retail Clients.

- 7.8. As a Retail Client You shall be entitled to the following non-exhaustive list of regulatory protection rights:

This adjustment applies exclusively to securities and is intended to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of both parties immediately prior to the Corporate Action. All such adjustments are final and binding on You. We will notify You of any adjustments as soon as reasonably practicable.
- 8.14. In the event of a Corporate Action, We reserve the right to take one of the following actions:
- (a) Close such Open Positions at the last price of the previous trading day and reopen an equivalent volume of the Financial Instrument at the first available price on the ex-dividend day. This may apply in cases such as stock splits, mergers, acquisitions, spin-offs, or other Corporate Actions that materially affect the price and liquidity of the instrument; or

(b) Keep such Open Positions and pass all related costs and/or proceeds to You (important notice: for "short" Open Positions on stocks involved in Corporate Actions, We will adjust the Trading Account to reflect such costs and notify You as soon as reasonably practicable).

8.15. The Company reserves the right to adjust the terms of Transactions in response to any Corporate Action. Adjustments may include changes to the opening or closing price, size, or quantity of the related Transaction, as well as modifications to any stop limit, stop market, or stop range orders. These adjustments are intended to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of the parties under the Transaction as they were immediately prior to the Corporate Action.

The Order Execution Policy forms an integral part of this Agreement and is available on the Website.

15. Client Funds

15.1. Any funds which we hold for you shall be held as client funds in accordance with the Client Funds Rules. All amounts handed over by the Client to the Company or which the Company holds on behalf of the Client, for the provision of the Services, shall be held in the name of the Client and/or in the name of the Company on behalf of the Client in a Client Bank Account. This means that Your funds will be segregated from our own funds and cannot be used in the course of our business. We may hold your money and the money of other Clients in the same Client Bank Account (omnibus account). In this case we are able to identify your money through our back office and accounting system.

15.2. You agree to waive any rights to receive interest earned on funds held in such bank accounts. You consent to the Company retaining such interest to cover registration, general expenses, charges, fees, and costs related to the administration and maintenance of the bank accounts, as well as any other Company expenses.

- 15.3. All due skill, care and diligence will be exercised in the selection, appointment and periodic review of any third-party bank or other financial institution with whom your funds are held. - 15.5. Where any amount owed by you to us under this Agreement is due and payable to us, in accordance with the Client Funds Rules, we shall cease to treat it as client funds, so much of any client funds held on Your behalf as equal to the amount you owe us. You agree that we may request that funds in or towards satisfaction of all or part of those funds due and payable to us. For the purposes of this Clause, any such amounts owed by you to us under this Agreement become immediately due and payable, without notice or demand by us, when incurred by you or on your behalf.
- 15.6. In the event that there has been no movement on your account balance for a period of at least six (6) years and we are unable to contact you despite having taken all reasonable steps to do so, you agree that we may cease to treat your money as client money and transfer these to the Investor Compensation Fund. In such cases, we undertake to return to you, or your legal heirs, an amount equal to the funds transferred to the Investor Compensation Fund if a claim for these funds is made at any time in the future.
- 15.7. We do not hold our clients' funds in unregulated financial institutions. We may, however, pass on clients' funds to any regulated third party (e.g. a bank, a market maker or liquidity provider, merchant, e-wallet, intermediate broker, OTC counterparty or clearing house) to hold or control in order to effect a Transaction through or with that person or to satisfy your obligation to provide collateral (e.g. Initial Margin requirement) in respect of a Transaction. We carry out annual risk assessments of all regulated third parties we work with but have no responsibility for any acts or omissions of any regulated third party to whom we pass money received from you. The regulated third party to whom we pass money may hold it in an omnibus account, and it may not be possible to separate it from our money or the third party's money depending on the third party's regulatory provisions. In the event of an insolvency or any other analogous proceedings in relation to that regulated third party, we may only have an unsecured claim against the regulated third party on behalf of you and our other Clients, and you may be exposed to the risk that the money received by us from the regulated third party is insufficient to satisfy the claims of you and all other Clients with claims in respect of the relevant account. If an account is held jointly by more than one person, all account holders are considered collectively responsible for the account's obligations and liabilities, and each individual is jointly and severally liable under this Agreement. References to "Client" in this Agreement shall apply to all individuals associated with the joint account. Joint accounts are permitted only between first-degree relatives (e.g., parent-child, siblings, or spouses). Schedule A: Terms for CFDs

27. CFD Trading Services

- 27.1. A CFD is a type of financial product which allows you to trade on the price movements of an underlying asset, such as, but not limited to, shares, forex, indices, commodities, or cryptocurrencies. When you trade a CFD, you are speculating on whether the price of the asset will rise or fall. You don't own the actual asset—instead, you agree to exchange the difference in its price between the time you open the trade and when you close it.
- 27.2. ColmexPro may act either as principal or as agent when providing CFD trading services. When acting as principal, we will be the counterparty to your Orders. When acting as agent, we will execute your Orders on your behalf with third-party liquidity providers or execution venues. The capacity in which we act may vary depending on the specific financial instrument, market conditions, and other factors. Further details are available in our Order Execution Policy.

28. Leverage

- 28.1. We allow you to place Orders in CFDs using Leverage. Leverage obtainable in CFDs means that a small deposit or down payment can lead to large losses as well as gains. It also means that a relatively small movement in the markets can result in a proportionately larger movement in the value of your investment and this can work against you as well as for you. CFD Transactions have an inherent risk, and you should be aware of what the implications of this are.
- 28.2. The minimum volume of the Transaction varies per Financial Instrument and is specified on the trading window in the Trading Platform.
- 28.3. The Leverage ratio varies per each CFD depending on the underlying instrument and at the discretion of the Company and is subject to the provisions of the legislation provided and approved by the European Securities and Markets Authority ("ESMA") and the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission ("CySEC"). The Leverage available on CFD Accounts determines the Client's daily Buying Power Ratio. At the opening of the Trading Account, the Leverage ratio is set by default as follows:
- (a) 1:30 for major Currency Pairs;
 - (b) 1:20 for non-major Currency Pairs, Gold and major Indices Futures;
 - (c) 1:10 for Commodity Futures, Spot Metals other than Gold and non-major Indices Futures;
 - (d) 1:5 for Stocks and ETFs;
 - (e) 1:2 for cryptocurrencies.
- 28.4. Clients may be eligible for higher intraday Buying Power at the Company's sole discretion.
- 28.5. If a Trading Account remains excessively leveraged after Trading Hours, the Company reserves the right to close part or all Open Positions to manage risk. Any costs incurred due to such adjustments will be payable by the Client. The Company will make its best efforts to notify the Client in advance of any such adjustments via phone, email, or SMS.

- 28.6. You may request a lower Leverage to be applied to your Trading Account by contacting the Company. The Company will continuously monitor the Leverage applied to Clients' positions and reserves the right to adjust the Trading Account Leverage at our discretion, whether temporarily or permanently, depending on the Client's trading volume and trading patterns, without providing prior notice. You hereby acknowledge, understand and accept that reduction of Leverage as per the conditions of this Clause, could result in the Account's Balance falling below the Margin requirements, which could result in a Margin Call or Stop Out. You are therefore strongly advised to maintain an appropriate amount of Margin in Your Account at all times.
- 28.7. The Company reserves the right to adjust its Leverage ratio at any time without prior notice to the Client.

29. Margin Requirement

- 29.1. For each Open Position, we reserve a portion of the funds in your Trading Account as collateral, referred to as "Margin." These funds will not be considered as free funds and will not be available for withdrawal.
- 29.2. You shall at all times maintain an appropriate Margin level and you shall independently monitor the compliance of the Margin and recover it instantly when it drops below the required minimum. If you fail to provide the required Margin, we shall inform you instantly via the Trading Platform which provides access to your Trading Account status.
- 29.3. You agree to promptly meet all Margin and maintenance calls to ensure compliance with Margin Requirements. You further acknowledge and agree that failure to do so may result in the closure of your Open Positions at the prevailing market prices without prior notification, in order to prevent you from sustaining losses exceeding the funds deposited in your Account. Under this Agreement, you agree to the price of the Transactions upon closure of the Open Positions. You shall be informed about your closed positions through the Trading Platform which provides access to your Trading Account status.
- 29.4. For Retail Clients: a margin stop-out rule applies across all CFD Open Positions in your Trading Account. This means that if your Trading Account's Equity falls below 50% of the Initial Margin required, all Open Positions will be automatically closed, either one by one or simultaneously, at the prevailing market price to protect you from further losses.
- 29.5. For Professional Clients: the margin stop-out rule varies by platform. On the MT4 platform, a stop-out is triggered when your Trading Account's Equity falls below 10% of the required Initial Margin, at which point all CFD Open Positions will be automatically closed, either one by one or simultaneously, at the prevailing market price. On the ColmexPro 2.0 platform, if Your Trading Account Equity falls below $0 ("Trading Suspension Equity"), all Open Positions will be automatically closed at the prevailing market price, and you will no longer be able to place any new Orders. While the Company reserves the right to close your positions, it is not obligated to do so. Your Trading Account will remain in "Read-Only" status until your Equity exceeds $50. The Company reserves the right to modify these conditions as necessary to comply with regulatory and risk management requirements.

- 29.6. We reserve the right, at any time and without prior notice, to impose stricter Margin Requirements, adjust Margin levels, or refuse trading on Margin. This may include increasing Margin Requirements for positions deemed to carry higher risk, such as thinly traded, speculative, or volatile financial instruments, or concentrated positions. One Margin demand does not preclude another.

30. Corporate Actions

- 30.1. You shall not be entitled to interest, dividends, voting rights, or any other rights associated with CFDs held in Your Trading Account. You shall be solely entitled to the redemption of Your Balance in your Account. If the underlying instrument pays a dividend, your account may be credited (in the case of a long position) or debited (in the case of a short position) with a corresponding price adjustment. This adjustment will be applied on the ex-dividend date.
- 30.2. If a Financial Instrument is affected by a Corporate Action, We reserve the right to take actions as these are stated in Clause 8.15 herein.

The Company and the Client further acknowledge that, for purposes of complying with regulatory reporting obligations, the Client or the Company may use a third party service provider to transfer trade information into a TR and that a TR may engage the services of a global trade repository regulated by one or more governmental regulators.

- 31.4. The Client and the Company each also acknowledge that disclosures made pursuant hereto may be made to recipients in a jurisdiction other than that of the disclosing Party or a jurisdiction that may not necessarily provide an equivalent or adequate level of protection for personal data as the counterparty's home jurisdiction.
- 31.5. Notwithstanding the trade reporting as carried out by the Company, the Client, being a financial or non-financial corporate entity, within EEA remains legally responsible for reporting its own transactions, unless otherwise agreed in writing. By entering into this Agreement, you agree that we may provide you with a description of some of the risks involved in trading CFDs on our Website and in the General Risk Disclosure.
